Summary of CV

This section describes briefly a summary of your career in science, academic and research; the main scientific and technological achievements and goals in your line of research in the medium -and long- term. It also includes other important aspects or peculiarities.

I have more than 10 years' research experience in the fields of inflammation and molecular mechanisms of disease, with significant contributions to the field as reflected by authorship in more than 30 scientific papers in high impact journals. I have extensive experience in characterization and evaluation of animal models, and I have contributed to delineate the molecular mechanisms that regulate the inflammatory process, identifying potential therapeutic targets, inventor of two patents, and providing evidences to evaluate several compounds in human Phase I clinical trials.

I got my Bachelor degree in Biology by Universidad Complutense in Madrid in 2001. After taking specialization courses at Biochemistry Institute and Medicinal Chemistry Institute Spanish National Research Council-CSIC, I joined Biochemistry Ph.D. program at School of Medicine Autonoma University in 2003. I obtained my Ph.D. degree in Biochemistry and Molecular Biology from Autonoma University at Dr. Jesus Egido's laboratory, completing three research projects that were awarded with the Outstanding cum Laude and the Extraordinary Thesis Award from the Universidad Autonoma in Madrid in 2008 and 2009 respectively.

As a postdoctoral researcher I joined the lab of Dr. Juan Carlos Lacal for a brief period, where I received training in experimental cancer models and phospholipid metabolism. In 2012, thanks to Sara Borrell fellowship, I was invited to join Dr. Michael Karin's laboratory, a world leader in inflammation and tumor immunology, at Department of Pharmacology University of California San Diego. While in the Karin lab, I investigated how the modulation of the tumor microenvironment, including macrophages, TH17 cells, myeloid-nurse like cells and plasma cells affect cancer onset and progression. Pieces of these work have resulted in scientific publications in high impact journals and the initiation of clinical trials or FDA approval for starting clinical trial in 2019. At Dr. Karin's laboratory I have become an expert in macrophage biology, identifying positive and negative regulators of NLRP3 inflammasome and the production of IL-1 $\beta$  and IL-18, two of the most important inflammatory cytokines.

Currently, I am assistant project scientist at Department of Pharmacology UCSD. Thanks to my background and expertise, I have designed a project that study the role of choline metabolism and other dietary metabolites in inflammatory diseases and innate immunity. I am supervising and co-mentoring two undergraduate students, and two postdoctoral fellows, while establishing scientific collaborations internationally.

General quality indicators of scientific research

This section describes briefly the main quality indicators of scientific production (periods of research activity, experience in supervising doctoral theses, total citations, articles in journals of the first quartile, H index...). It also includes other important aspects or peculiarities.

Publication record: 34 scientific articles (26 in the 1st quartile), in high quality international journals such as Cell Metabolism, Nature, Cell, Immunity, Oncogene, JASN and Circulation, being the first author in 9, and second or third author in 12 of them.

Citation: up to 2349 times, accounting for 1176 in the last 5 years (2015-2019) (self-citation below 10%, Scopus resource). H factor of 23, with an average of 235 citations/year in the last 5 years (Scopus resource).

I have presented my work in more than 28 national and international conferences, and participated in 8 research projects in the field of inflammation and molecular mechanisms of the disease, one of them as PI.

I was awarded with the most competitive grants in Spain, the PhD fellowship award (BEFI) and the Postdoctoral fellowship award under the program "Sara Borrell" both from Institute de Salud Carlos III.

As a result of the quality and impact in the field, I received the Outstanding cum Laude and Extraordinary Award from the Universidad Autónoma de Madrid.

My training includes posgrade specialization courses and stays at research institutions recognized internationally in the area of molecular and cellular biology, spending two years as visiting scholar at the Department of Pharmacology of University of California San Diego (U.S.A.), where I still work as assistant project scientist.

I am member of Sociedad Española de Inmunología (Ambassador) and the American Association of Immunologist.

As a recognition of my scientific quality and standards, I serve as reviewer for Leukemia (IF: 10.023), Oncogene (IF: 6.85), BMC Cancer (IF: 3.288), Biology Letters (IF: 3.345), Scientific Reports (IF: 4.122), and participate as Guest Editor for a Special Issue titled "Autophagy in Infection, Inflammation and Immunity" in Journal of Clinical Medicine (IF: 5.583).

My focus in translational research have led to licensing a patent as co-inventor and I am currently in the process of licensing another.
